Riley Dodge is a former Division 1 quarterback and receiver and is the current Head Football Coach at Southlake Carroll. Before playing college football, Dodge was a high school standout for Southlake Carroll, earning the Texas High School Player of the Year (2006 & 2007), Max Preps National Player of the Year and Parade All-American. Dodge completed a three year stint in college coaching at both the University of Texas and Texas A&M where he had the opportunity to assist with coaching the Heisman Trophy winner, Johnny Manziel. Dodge then decided to transition to high school football in 2015. Since arriving at Southlake Carroll in 2018, Dodge has been named the District Coach of the Year for three consecutive seasons, 2019 Tom Landry Coach of the Year and 2019 Class 6A Division I State Coach of the Year. Additionally, he helped lead his program to the 6A Division I State Championship game in 2020.
